

Leading financial institutions to access Boerse Stuttgart Digital's fully regulated, institutional-grade crypto trading infrastructure via Wyden

Stuttgart / Zurich, 10 September 2025 — Boerse Stuttgart Digital, Europe's leading crypto infrastructure partner, announces its partnership with Wyden, the leading institutional digital asset trading platform. This collaboration expands Wyden's growing network of integrated liquidity providers and enables banks, brokers, and asset managers to access Boerse Stuttgart Digital's fully regulated, institutional-grade brokerage via a single interface. The connection ensures seamless, secure, and efficient access for financial institutions, while offering best execution and streamlined operations across the entire digital asset lifecycle.

"It's a great pleasure to become crypto infrastructure partner of Wyden, one of the leading global order and execution management system providers in the digital assets space," said Joaquín Sastre Ibáñez, Head of Institutional Business of Boerse Stuttgart Digital. "By integrating our crypto brokerage, Wyden expands access for financial institutions to fully regulated crypto liquidity. Our crypto brokerage is MiCAR-compliant and offers highly competitive pricing. Wyden clients can immediately access it without any technical effort."

"As demand for institutional digital asset infrastructure grows, access to regulated, reputable providers like Boerse Stuttgart Digital becomes increasingly important," said Andy Flury, founder and CEO at Wyden. "We're pleased to offer our clients broader market access and connectivity through the partnership with a crypto infrastructure partner whose solutions are battle-tested since 2019."
